Resumen

Personal Selection: the strength evolution continues...

The Personal Selection line of strength training equipment combines the choice, performance and reliability you can depend on, with unique style options designed to attract key user groups.

Whether your market comprises weekend warriors, successful executives or women in search of the perfect shape, there are Personal Selection choices that will meet your needs.

Attractive, stylish and easy for your customers to use

Personal Selection equipment helps your customers achieve their strength-training goals with ease and in comfort.

From the comfortable BioSeat to the biomechanical design which impacts on every movement made, a host of unique features make Personal Selection equipment a pleasure to use.

Can be customised to suit your own design and marketing needs.

A wide range of equipment choices and customisable colourways enables you to install a range that enhances the overall look and feel of your facility.

Whether you are creating unique fitness areas within a hotel, resort, spa or exclusive club...or want to create exciting new areas within a larger club...the Personal Selection line gives you the freedom to match the equipment to your own personal or corporate vision. Not only does Personal Selection provide operators with a comprehensive range of strength training equipment, it also offers the opportunity to customise the design of the machines themselves in order to better appeal to the customer base.
